CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

Dastardly Deeds of Death and Destruction Done by Demoniical Demons.

The King Killing.

Hickland, Ky., Nov. 24.—King and wife, as account of whose murder was sent to last night's report, lived alone on a farm. No one has seen them since Tuesday of last week. Arthur King, when he discovered the murder, found evidence of a severe struggle. The furniture was strewn about, and a gun with a broken barrel lay on the floor. Mrs. King's throat was cut, and there were evidences of three heavy blows upon the head. Mr. King's head was crushed in by a blow. The trunk in which King kept his money was chopped open with a hatchet. About two dollars in another place was not found. The only clue in that a spare bed had been used by one person and the table shows that one visitor had eaten with the aged couple. This points suspicion toward Clark Mender who settled recently near the Kings.

A Dastardly Deed.

New York, Nov. 24.—Owen F. Plunkett, a cigar maker employed in Brothers' factory at 22 Bowery, was shot dead to day by a dissolute fellow named John Scullen. Scullen worked at the top floor of the building. Between the two was another workman. Without any known cause Scullen drew a revolver and fired at the other workman. The ball missed its mark, and Scullen recoiled the weapon and fired at Plunkett, who fell dead. Scullen was arrested. Scullen is aged fifty-eight years, and is half-witted. He is a widower. The murdered man was foreman in the factory. Scullen says he bought the revolver to shoot himself, and a sudden fit came on him to kill somebody else, when he shot Plunkett.

A Bloody Deed.

Paige, Texas, Nov. 24.—At Fedar, a country store, eight miles distant, in Lee county, last night at nine o'clock, Charles O. Keuffe and his clerk were preparing to leave the store, when a man entered and caught Keuffe by the shoulder and demanded his money. Keuffe went to the drawer and was unlocking it when the robber shot him through the head, killing him instantly. The robber then told the clerk to pull the drawer out, and as the clerk was complying he received a bullet in the brain and dropped dead. There was one witness to the tragedy—a small German boy, who slipped out unobserved. The drawer contained only $15. Mrs. Keuffe and her five children remained in the building until morning, too terrified to give the alarm. No one has yet been arrested. It is thought Keuffe and his clerk recognized the perpetrator, who murdered them to conceal his identity.

Killed in a Masquerade.

Lancaster, Ohio, Nov. 24.—Lewis Richwine, a hackman provoked a quarrel on the street Thursday night, with Geo. E. Willock, and was knocked down. Her sails and boats, however, were very old and in a bad condition. Pike was careless in navigating the vessel and after the disaster the crew became insubordinate. The story of Pike that he left Sabine under protest is without foundation. He and the witness had no differences. Spencer was originally engaged in the star route investigation when James was postmaster general, but when the cases were called for trial he went to Europe to avoid testifying. In an interview to-day when asked why he had failed to testify, Spencer said he was "the first man to suggest the star route investigation, and when they were begun, gave the postmaster general and government what he knew about them. He claims he did this without recompense, and claims further that he had an UNDERSTANDING WITH PRESIDENT GARFIELD and Postmaster General James he should not be known in the matter or be made a witness for the prosecution. When he got his evidence in shape he declares he went to his home in Nevada, expecting that was to end the matter. Under what circumstances were you arrested? was asked. ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

Kansas City, Nov. 24.—A Times' Special, N. M., special says: News reached here to-night of a train wrecking and robbery, four miles east of Gage Station and thirteen miles west of Deming. As the east-bound Southern Pacific train passed that point about 4 o'clock this afternoon, it was stopped by a party of seven cowboys, who opened fire on the train. About twenty shots were fired, and E. Webster, the engineer, was killed. The robbers removed the plate and spread the rails, throwing engine, mail car, one coach, and the front end of the sleeper from the track. A Liberal Charter.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 24.—There appears to be more and more ground for the report that the Czar some time ago selected Counts Folsof and Prain and Councilors Pobolonsoff and Katkoff to elaborate a constitutional charter. The charter is said to contain an organization more adapted to the spirit of the age. Wherein though the principal autocracy is maintained a possibility is given to prominent persons as representatives of the people to mediate between the latter and the crown as advisers of the government. These reforms are granted in order to do justice to the universal freedom of the people.

Will Bring Them to Time.
